

IN GIRUM IMUS NOCTE

The difficulties that we face, in which we struggle in the night, are not imaginary, they come from the unelaboratedness of any living thought, they come from the caricatures of thoughts that we have had to suffer from birth.

What are we ready to sacrifice ? Our derisory shelves, our desolate perspectives. A world where each one of us has become the shopkeeper of his own speciality, and, once or twice a year, the tourist of himself, emptier each time confronted with this repetition.

DEAFNESS

Relieved by science. The greatest invention of the age. Wilson's common-sense ear drums; simple, practical, comfortable, safe, and invisible. No string or wire attachment. Try them and you will discard all others. Send for Pamphlets.

THE DRUM
IN POSITION

Considering the ghost youth of today, we must admit that the crime is perfect. The enemy has made them, not unable to think, but afraid. They have nothing and believe they have everything to lose. However, behind the camouflage of their delirious accaparations, it is impossible not to hear them cry for help.
